County Board Votes To Join CPO--Maybe

The County Board of Supervisors last Wednesday voted 4-0 to join the Comprehensive Planning Organization.

The vote was made conditional, hinging on whether or not the organization would change their voting formula. If a change could not be made in six months the County will withdraw.

The CPO has a weighted-vote formula which gives San Diego City a 40%, the other 11 member cities 30%, and will give the county a 30% vote.

Because of this formula Supervisors Lou Conde and Jim Bear, have opposed joining until a revision of the voting formula was made, they suggested 35%-35% — and the CPO would agree not to become a taxing organization.

Taylor Appointed

Both men dropped their conditions last week, possibly in response to the appointment of Lee Taylor to fill Bill Craven's seat. Taylor has said he would not oppose joining the CPO, but wanted to talk with Mayor Pete Wilson to solicit support for a revision of the voting policy before voting on it.

Craven, Conde and Bear, had previously been blocking the County's membership in the CPO, holding the balance of votes over Jack Walsh and Dick Brown, both strong supporters of the organization.

With the balance shifted it appeared inevitable that the County would soon be joining. By forcing the vote last week, Conde and Bear were able to put membership on a trial basis, hinging on the revision in the voting policy.

Before they had voted for membership, the Board had authorized Taylor and Conde to speak to Wilson about the voting formula dispute. This was later changed at the request of Conde who said, "We should realize the fact that our position, no matter what, is going to be all over the newspaper this afternoon, and Wilson is going to know our position. He's going to know that we're going to join with or without any compromises on his part, so why don't we go ahead and vote to join and work it out with him later."

Take Other Cities

Bear hinted that if the county fails to alter the voting formula, when they withdraw, they will attempt to take as many of the 11 other cities with them as they can.

If less than 75% of the region's cities are members of CPO, the organization loses its authority as a reviewing board of regional plannings and transportation matters.

Conde and Taylor are optimistic about a compromise being reached with the city. "The vibes I've been getting from that direction are that they are amenable to a change."

The reaction in Lemon Grove to the County's decision is one of "it's about time".

Bob Russell said, "Personally I think we should join. We can always get more votes later if the County becomes more populated than the city, we should have more. I think our supervisor will be right in there leading, since he had experience when he was with the city of El Cajon." (Dick Brown has been appointed the County's representative to the CPO).

Dell Lake, president of the Lemon Grove Chamber of Commerce said "We (the Chamber) sent a letter two months ago urging the County to join the CPO. While we wouldn't have as much voice, little is better than none."

Jim Dorman, president of the Lemon Grove Planning Association said he agrees with Dick Brown. "We should be in it. I may not like it, but it's there and it's working."

HARD AT WORK — Yolanda Marmalejo is busy preparing for the annual Mt. Miguel PTSA-Booster Club "Animo" barbecue. The barbecue will be held September 7 in the school quad.
Animo means spirit, and that is what Mt. Miguel is striving for through the barbecue.
Hamburgers and hot dogs will be served by the PTSA starting at 5:30 p.m. During the serving of the food, the pep band and cheerleaders will perform.
All interested persons are invited to attend.

The DIMMER VIEW

by Max Goodwin

Anxious Reader:

Yep, Skylab II astronauts are still up there. It's shameful to have forgotten but it proves again that old adage: out of sight, out of mind. Their names are Alan L. Bean, Jack R. Lousma and Dr. Owen K. Garriott. There are also a couple of spiders, some mice and some minnows.

Who Controls Cost of Grapes?

The President, Secretary of Agriculture Butz, and hundreds of the nation's economists brain-washed consumers into believing that hoarders, bankers and unions are involved in the presesnt food-cost high rise.

Their complex explanations have admitted the severity of the problem but offered no solutions. "Prices will level off after controls are removed, relieving the shortage," is the gist of their ambiguous explanations.

Now for the un-brainwashing.

They have misled you.

The problem isn't complex at all. Neither is the solution. Let's explain it with table grapes.

Go to your supermarket and price Thompson Seedless grapes — they're a standard of the industry. They're 39c a pound and have been for several weeks. A produce clerk in a local market explains that a shortage caused the high price. The battle between the growers, the pickers and the unions, you know. "How much by the crate?" 39c — the same as those on the counter.

That seemed logical. It did until the Tijuana connection.

In Tijuana Thompson Seedless grapes are 15c a pound at several of those big, outdoor "mercados" in the downtown section of the city. 15c a pound against 39c. That's almost two-and-one half times as much for the same fruit. They sell it by the 13 kilo crate.

Yes, it is the same fruit. Tijuana merchants have stacks of unopened crates of Thompson grapes in their stalls with California growers' seals and labels on the crates.

Some carry the seal of Richardson Ranch, Bakerfield. Another stack is from Coachella Vineyards, Thermal. The container from which our operative made the purchase is stamped Jiminez Produce, 720 Freemont st., Delano. The grapes had been grown, picked and packed in California, trucked to Tijuana where they are being sold by retailers —at a profit—for 15c a pound. This great disparity in price exists even though it costs more to truck produce the extra 25 miles past San Diego into Tijuana. Additionally, truckers have to buy permits to bring the produce across the border.

In spite of the shorter haul and no permit charge San Diegans are paying two-and-a-half times as much for grapes from the same vinyards.

Obviously, there is a middleman mark up. But 250% is ridiculous.

If there is a need for a middleman in the food industry, what is the need for this unconscionable mark up?

If government agencies were sincerely interested in keeping the cost of living at sensible levels, why haven't they slapped controls on profiteers who apparently nearly triple the cost of a single items just for accepting delivery and distributing it?

Growers claim they are hard-pressed to make a profit. Truckers fees are controlled by State regulation. Supermarkets claim they operate on a two to three per cent margin. The guilt area narrows.

In the movie "The Godfather", it was shown that cruel but stupid underworld types became rich by controlling a commodity and making the retailer pay dearly. It worked with booze and narcotics. It works with the most vital commodity of all — food for existence.

It is admitted that the reporter restricted his investigation to a single item for ease of understanding. It is noted that the reporter ate the item and pronounced the item "as delicious as those purchased in San Diego."

But don't rush to Tijuana to buy cut rate food. Some items can't be brought back. Better still, write a note or send this article to your congressman. Locally, it is U.S. Representative Lionel Van Deerlin at 815 E street in San Diego and tell him how you feel about being bilked.

Filtration Study Given County Water Authority

A $46.5 million construction program to provide filtration of domestic water supplies for urban areas of the county has been recommended to the San Diego County Water Authority (CWA) Board of Directors.

In a joint study just completed, the CWA staff and James M. Montgomery, Consulting Engineers, Inc., have concluded users would save up to $10.28 per acre foot of water if the Authority provides filtration rather than requiring each agency to provide its own facilities.

An acre foot of water is approximately 326,000 gallons, about the amount an average five-member family would use in a year.)

The California Department of Public Health has notified water agencies that supplies from the State Water Project (Feather River Project) will not meet minimum health standards for domestic use unles given complete filtration.

Existing Plants

The study also considers the possibility of acquisition by the Water Authority of several existing filtration plants. Possibilitie include the Alvarado, Miramar and Otay plants owned by the City of San Diego; Helix Water District's Levy Filtration Plant; California - American Water Company's Sweetwater plant; and the plant owned jointly by the San Dieguito and Santa Fe Irrigation districts. A plant proposed for joint construction by the City of Escondido and Vista Irrigation Distict might also be built or acquired by the Water Authority.

The CWA-Montgomery report suggests several pipeline modifications in addition to construction of a fifth pipeline from Skinner Lake to the Crossover by 1980, and a new filtration plant.

According to the report, the recommendation to meet the deficiency offer the advantages of being the least cost to the community, the most efficient utilization of existing facilities, the greatest flexibility to meet changes rates and differing patterns of growth and water use throughout the county, the smallest number of new facilities to be constructed, and the most amenable to staging of construction.

Adequate Supply

The recommendations, if adopted, would provide enough filtered water to supply all agencies on the maximum use day each year, according to the report.

Also included in the report are recommendations for "subsequent facilities to be constructed by CWA as needs develop over approximately the next 20 years."

Among these are major filtration plants at the Crossover, Sweetwater Lake, and near Skinner Lake on the First San Diego Aqueduct; extension of the Pomerado Pipeline from Lake Murray to Sweetwater Lake; a major filtered water storage reservoir in the Carlsbad-San Marcos area; and a peaking plant or major filtered water storage at or near Lake Turner in Valley Center.

Broadway Project To Get Underway In Early Sept.

Last Thursday's meeting of the Lemon Grove Chamber of Commerce Board of Directors was a short one and dealt with only three items of note.

Bob Russell gave a report on the Broadway improvement project, noting that construction is expected to start the week of September 10.

The project will include renovation of Broadway, the installation of curbs and medians, and the creation of left turn pockets at hazardous points along the roadway.

In a related item, it was noted that the Board of Supervisors had approved the addition of landscape maintenance funds to a county services area in Lemon Grove, moving another step toward a Broadway beautification project.

A hearing will be held in September on the plan, and an election is expected to be on the November 6 ballot for the project.

If all goes as expected, gas tax funds will be used to landscape Broadway and the railroad right of way along Imperial. The maintenance funds will then be used to maintain the landnscaping.

In other business, the chamber dicussed Christmas decorations for the large tree at Broadway and Imperial and agreed to again sponsor a Christmas decorations contest. The CofC also discussed the possibility of getting more local merchants involved in the program.

Fire Election Deadline Friday

Filing deadline for candidates in the Lemon Grove Fire Protection District election November 6 is tomorrow.

Last wek it was erroneously reported that two candidates had filed for the election, William Wardwell, the incumbent, and Dennis Moreno, newsman challenger. Neither had actually filed with the Registrar of Voters and were only announcing their candidacies.

At press time this week, Wardwell had filed.

76 Miles Goal Of United Way Parades

Bands, marching units, mariachis, antique cars, majorettes, beauty queens, clowns, unicycles, bicycles, tricycles, motorcycles, equestrian units, boy scouts, girl scouts, nuns, celebrities, pets, pompom girls, golf carts, double-decker buses ... all these and more will lead the big parade for 76 miles on Saturday, September 22, when United Way of San Diego County kicks off its 1973 campaign.

Thirty-eight parade locations are under consideration, and parade routes are being charted by an enthusiastic United Way Committee which hopes to focus attention on the 76 agencies which are supported by United Way Funds. Bob Murphy, parade chairman, stated community parades, each two miles long, will stress the neighborhood involvement of each of the agencies which benefit from this annual fund drive.

All San Diego County residents will have an opportunity to join festivities on the big day of the big parade. Trombone players and Sweet Adeline singers can sign up now to join the marchers, parade float riders, bicycle decorators, parade horse riders, flag wavers and other imaginative participants.

Spectators can choose to watch the spectacle from vantage points located in major shopping centers and along street locations in various communities. Areas currently planning parade activities include Parkway Plaza in El Cajon, Escondido Mall, Plaza Camino Real, Fallbrook, Ramona, Oceanside, Imperial Beach, San Ysidro, National City, Rancho Bernardo, Borrego Springs, Hillcrest, Clairmont, Pacific Beach, Mission Valley, Southeast San Diego, Lomas Santa Fe, Mission Valley Center and the Fashion Valley Shopping Center, Chula Vista, La Jolla, Lemon Grove, Alpine, Carlsbad, Coronado, Encinitas, Grossmont Center in La Mesa, San Dieguito, Vista, Rancho Santa Fe, Del Mar, Julian and some central San Diego locations.

Each parade will be coordinated to feature banners of each of the 76 agencies and emphasize the sponsoring agency responsible for organizing that particular parade.

The parades will receive a simultaneous signal at 11 a.m. on Saturday morning to kick off each of the 38 two-mile caravans. Throughout San Diego County, units will step to the beat of parade music provided by nearly 50 participating bands.

Complaints Continue On Corridor Plan

The Lemon Grove Planning Association met last Thursday to continue discussion on the proposed Broadway Corridor land use plan. The Association had previouly heard two hours of suggestions and complaints at their August meeting.

The main point under discussion was still the area along Pacific to New Jersey. This area, in a map that had been set to the property owners concerned, appeared to be designated solely for parking.

This was explained at the August 9 meeting, and the County staff recommended that a land use designation be applied to the area designated as parking.

They also explained that the designation parking was not meant to imply the area was to be used strictly for parking between the business district and the residential district bordered by Pacific.

Property owners along Pacific felt that their property values would decrease drastically because of this.

Many Attend

Members of the Executive Committee said they were happy to see so many people attend the meeting. However they wished they had been coming for the last three years. "I'm not concerned with just my own front or backyard, if I was I wouldn't be here, said Josie Ball, an Executive Committee member. "We should be morally concerned with all of Lemon Grove."

Jim Dorman, president of the Association, said "We know we're not going to please all of the 26,000 people living in Lemon Grove. What we're trying to do is develop a plan for Lemon Grove that reflects the wishes of the majority."

In other business the Association received a report from the county staff on an agricultural land use designation, which the group had requested be worked up.

The Association was concerned with losing the limited amount of land in Lemon Grove that is still being used in agricultural purposes. Especially of interest was Miller's Dairy, and the various avocado groves and nurseries in the area.

No Agriculture

The county said that at the present time, they would not recommend an agricultural designation. This is because when the land use map is revised into a zoning map, the only zone that would fit the dairy would be heavy agricultural, which would also allow hog farming. The designations are on a 20 year plan, which means that if the dairy ever went out of business the area could be used to raise hogs.

Also the other areas such as avocado groves, are not large enough to show up on a map. A suggestion was made to just use a letter of designation which is not binding, but simply meant to encourage that use. The idea was sent back to the county staff for more work and recommendation.

Announcement of an upcoming hearing that affects Lemon Grove was made by the county staff. On September 26 at 2 p.m., in the Board chambers, a hearing will be held on the Murray Hills condominium project.

Overnight Camp Permits Limited

Wilderness permits for overnight use of the San Jacinto Wilderness are limited in availability this summer. Since March 1, 1973, the number of overnight users has been limited to 400 persons in the popular Tahquitz Creek Drainage area in the San Jacinto Wilderness.

According to District Ranger Karl Tameler "limiting the number of overnight users was initiated to provide solitude for the wilderness user, and to protect the wilderness environment from the damage which occurs as a result of overuse of the fragile Wilderness areas. Tameler continued, "on weekends during the summer in 1972, it was common to have as many as one thousand or more persons camping in the San Jacino Wilderness at one time."

Permits which are required prior to entry into the San Jacinto Wilderness are available up to sixty days in advance of a planned trip from the Idyllwild Ranger Station. As a general rule, advance applications for permits have reached the limited number about thirty days in advance of weekends and holidays after which no additional permits are issued to advance applicants. The San Jacinto Wilderness has not to this date reached the 400 overnight use during weekdays, and permits for weeknight stays should continue to be available up to the date of the wilderness trip.

Applications for permits may be made in person, by mail, or by telephone. Permits for open campfires in the wilderness must be picked up during office hours at the Idyllwild Ranger Station. Persons contacted by the wilderness Patrolman who have entered the San Jacino Wilderness without a permit will be required to leave the area. Violators of the permit requirements may be cited.

Death Benefits For Veterans to Increase

Two new VA benefits, parts of the recently enacted National Cemetery Act, were announced by Gordon R. Elliott, Director of the Los Angeles Veterans Administration Regional Office.

For veterans who died on or after August 1, 1973, the Veterans Administration can pay a plot or interment allowance of $150 in addition to the $250 maximum already authorized.

Honor Camp Sentence In Marijuana Case

SAN DIEGO (CNA)—A 22-year-old Lemon Grove service station attendant was ordered to spend six months in an honor camp, as a condition of three years' probation on a marijuana charge last week.

Clifton Eugene Barnes, of 7280 Central ave., Lemon Grove, pleaded guilty on Aug. 1 to a charge of possession of marijuana, a lesser offense included in the charge against him of selling marijuana.

Barnes was arrested on July 8 at Ocean Beach. He admitted approaching sailors trying to sell marijuana.

The total cost, including planning, archeological research, building constructiion, and interpretive facilities, will be $350,000. Of that amount, $50,000 has been contributed by Roscoe E. Hazard.

Letters to the Editor

Dear Editor:

If the County keeps backing out of support programs for the elderly, infirm and retired, the State and Federal governments will have to fill the gap. But wait. The Feds are cutting back heavily and the State will have to cut even more drastically if the Reagan tax bombshell passes in November.

With the wealth and strength of this state and county, it's just plain not right the way retired and elderly people are shoved aside like used parts.

The cut back at Edgemore Hospital is another sign of cold-hearted leadership. The County could take some of the twenty-seven million Federal revenue sharing money for this very worthwhile need. Let's keep the pressure on the Board to do what is right!

Leonard Thomas
6700 Maury dr.

Dear Editor,

You may remember me as the lady who came to your office three weeks ago looking for her lost 16-year old son, David Lark. You published a large photograph of him with an article for which I thank you.

I thank you for all your kindness and help to me. It was a very trying situation for both his parents.

Very Sincerely,
Mrs. Marion Lark
Anaheim, California

Editor's Note: Lark, who was thought to be a possible victim of foul play, returned to his father's home in Gardena last week. He had apparently driven his father's car to Lemon Grove, where be abandoned it and took a bus to another town before returning home.

Soviet Hockey Team Due Here In January

SAN DIEGO—The Russian National hockey team will meet the San Diego Gulls at the Sports Arena Thursday evening Jan. 3, it was announced by the Gulls management.

Gametime for the event, which is now in its second year, will be at 8 p.m.

Last year the Russians, regarded as perhaps the most disciplined competitors in sports, topped the Gulls 8-2 before 12,110 fans.

The Russian squad will also play Phoenix, Portland and Seattle of the Western Hockey League on their 1974 U.S. tour.

Gloria Webb To Seek Jobs For ROP Grads

During the next few weeks, local businessmen are apt to find a pretty young woman a their door looking for work. The interesting thing is that she will be looking for lots of jobs; jobs ranging from auto mechanics to clerical work.

Her name is Gloria Madrid Webb, and she is the new Placement Specialist for the East County Regional Occupational Program. As such, it is her task to help scout out employment opportunities for the 2,500 students enrolled in one of the R.O.P.'s 52 vocational courses being offered in the Heartland area.

"My job is to find work for people who have successfully completed a course and have entry-level skills," she said, adding for emphasis that "these are graduates ready for work, not currently enrolled students."

Gloria assumed her new position on July 30, but so far she has been tied up meeting adult school principals, counselors, and others in the R.O.P. program. Now she's anxious to begin work finding jobs for the students who will graduate during the coming year.

"I have to find a way of meeting employers who will have a future need for trained employees," she said.

Gloria admitted that she will probably find herself speaking to service clubs and other community organizations, although "I'm really not much of a speaker. I do better in a one-to-one situation."

Primarily, what she is interested in is establishing contacts now for students who will graduate in mid-year or next June, although "we do have many open-ended courses" where a student who has prior training experience can work at his own speed and graduate at any time.

Gloria will be working out of the R.O.P. office in Timken Center.

MD CARNIVAL — The brainstorm of Kitty and Lita Ball developed into a carinval to aid musscular dystrophy last week. Lita, 12, a student at Lemon Grove Junior High, and Kitty, 10, of San Miguel School, talked the plan over with Brenda, and Bucky Bartow, and plans were soon in the neighboring children Tom Fambrough and Theresa, Karen, making. Among the events at the carnival was an apple-bobbing affair, shown above with David Huey, left, and Sally Cole going after the floating fruit.

BEAN BAGGERS — Other events at the carnival, held at 2543 Pergl, Lemon Grove, included a bean bag toss, shown above, a sponge throw, in which Tom Fambrough was thoroughly drenched, a magic show, and a puppet show. The carnival netted its organizers $32.50, which they intend to donate to the muscular dystrophy telethon over the weekend.

Area Funeral Services

R. E. Roe

Cremation and interment in Camp Butler National Cemetery in Springfield, Illinois, was held last week for Ruth Edith Roe, 54, of 1651 San Altos st., Lemon Grove, who died August 19 at Lemon Grove Convalescent Hospital.

Her ashes were buried alongside her husband, who died in Italy during World War Two. Mrs. Roe was a native of Illinois and lived here for 18 years.

Survivors include a sister, Margaret Hamilton, of Lemon Grove. Conrad Lemon Grove Mortuary was in charge.

H. E. Danielson

Visitation at Conrad Lemon Grove Mortuary will be from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. today for Herbert E. Danielson, 74, of 7663 Church st., Lemon Grove, who died last week while visiting relatives in Kansas.

Danielson, a native of Kansas, lived in this area for 31 years. Cremation will follow visitation, with burial at sea.

Surviving are two sons, Billy Danielson, of Lemon Grove, and Davey Lee Danielson, of Santee; a brother, Clifford Danielson, of Kansas; three sisters, Gertrude Provost and Lauranne Boyd, of Kansas, and Margaret Boogaard, of Florida; seven grandchildren and four great-grandchildren.

Cubic Gets Contract

A contract, with an estimated value of $4.5 million, has been awarded Cubic Corporation's Defense Systems Division by Warner Robins Air Force Base, Georgia, it was announced here by the San Diego company.

The 12-month agreement calls for the division to perform repair and modification to radar systems on the F-111 aircraft.

Gettysberg National Cemetery was opened in 1863.

Twelve Foreign Students To Attend District High Schools

With the arrival last Thusday of the final group of foreign students, high schools in the Grossmont District are now playing host to 12 students from Europe, South America, and Asia.

The students, who have been brought to this country on scholarships from the American Field Service, will spend the next year as the guest of a host family. They will enroll in school just like any other Heartland area youth, and attend classes, go to football games and dances, join clubs, watch television—in short, they will find out what it is like to be an American.

Seven of the eight Grossmont schools will enroll AFS students this year. Ironically, the only school not participating this year is one "which has been in the program the longest," according to Mrs. Ruth Ratner, the citizen volunteer responsible for the Grossmont District.

"Mt. Miguel, which has been in the program for 15 years, and was one of the first to join, is reorganizing this year, and won't have any foreign students," she said.

Mrs. Ratner is one of the 400 unpaid volunteers in the country who serve the AFS.

Through their efforts, each local chapter must raise $850 in order to sponsor one foreign student. Each year 50 foreign students are brought into San Diego County. A total of 3,000 foreign students receive AFS scholarships each year.

In order to qualify, a student must be 16-18 years of age, outstanding academically, and have an ability to adjust. They live with an American family for 10 or 11 months, attending high school as a senior.

Monte Vista will host three students. Annie Jaisser, of France, will live with R. Everlove family of El Cajon, Kristiina Olkinuora, of Finland will be hosted by the L. Haak family of La Mesa, and Antje Andrear, of Switzerland, will stay whith the L. King family of Spring Valley.

Mrs. Ratner is particularly thrilled this year with the success of the Grossmont schools in placing applicants in the Americans Abroad program. This year, 10 Grossmont students will spend either a summer or an entire school year with a host family in a foreign country.

"Every student in our district who applied was accepted. This is very rare, since the scholarships are competitive. I don't think we've ever done that before," she said.

Monte Vista student Colletta Martin will visit Costa Rica.

Four Stakes Set For DM's 4-Day Weekend

The 23rd running of the Del Mar Debutante, one of Western racing's most significant events for two-year-old fillies, will climax an action-packed holiday weekend of Thoroughbred sport when it highlights the program Labor Day Monday.

Four stakes will be featured in as many days over the elongated weekend which will began Friday with the $20,000-added Balboa Stakes for non-stakes winning two-year-olds at about 7½-furlongs on the turf.

Saturday's headliner is the $25,000-added Escondido Handicap for older horses at a mile and one-eighth on the grass and it will be followed Sunday by the $20,000-added El Cajon Stakes for three-year-olds, also on the grass at nine furlongs.

Canadiana Farms' classy Fleet Peach, a daughter of Fleet Nasrullah, and Zenya Yoshida's Calaki, by T. V. Lark, will renew their rivalry in the Debutante. Calaki bested Fleet Peach in the Cinderella Stakes at Hollywood Park and then finished in front of her foe in the Hollywood Lassie Stakes in which both were beaten by Special Goddess.

The Balboa Stakes is the final prelude to the $100,000 Del Mar Futurity on closing day, Sept. 12, and it promises to attract an interesting field of Futurity aspirants, including Kama Farms' Jenny's Boy, Dr. John Paulus' Prospect Park, Elmendorf's Good Witness and Sidney Factor's Blue Eyed Davy.

Another wide-open contest is shaping up in Sunday's El Cajon Stakes, with such hard-hitting sophomores as Dancing Papa, second to Groshawk in the La Jolla Mile; High Protein, Pure Delight, Mug Punter on the list of nominees.

La Presa Jr. High

The La Presa Junior High School Parent-Teacher Association will begin a membership drive for groups one and two this week, according to Elizabeth Keefover, membership chairman.

La Presa is on a 45-15 day year round school program, so separate membership drives are held for parents of youngsters, depending on when they attend classes.

Theme for the drive is "Now is the Hour", according to Mrs. Keefover. Students assisted in making posters and other aids for the drive.

Military Widows Slate Installation Luncheon

The Society of Military Widows will hold its annual installation luncheon at noon September 9 at the Commissioned Officers' Mess, U. S. Naval Station, 32nd st., between Main and Harbor dr., San Diego.

Officers to be installed are Mmes. Leon P. Meidinger, president; Lee H. Pray, vice president; Leonard B. Gump, recording recretary; Hugh R. Alexander, corresponding secretary; Peter M. Silva, treasurer; and Edward S. Worden, chaplain.

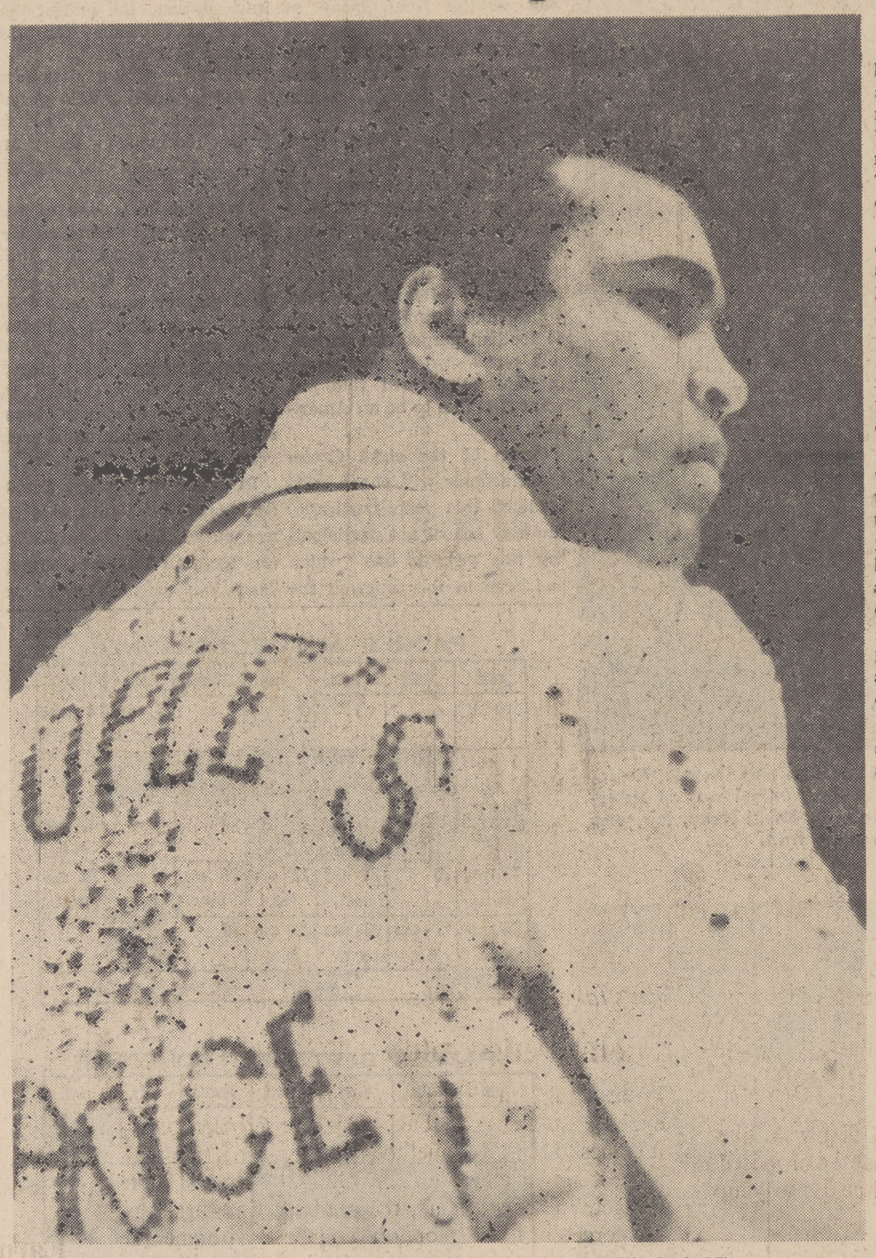
10-Day Fight Fare Here Heavy

Foreman and Ali in Telecasts; Cesar Sinda Fights in Person



HEAVYWEIGHT MUHAMMAD ALI — THE "PEOPLE'S CHOICE"

by Max Goodwin

Two closed circuit television heavyweight boxing shows are scheduled locally during the next 10 days. One is the World Champ George Foreman-King Roman fight from Tokyo. This one will be at El Cortez Friday at 7:30 p.m.

The next will be closed circuit between Muhammad Ali and Ken Norton at Golden Hall, in the Community Concourse with a simultaneous telecast at the S.D. Sports Arena on Sept. 10. Of the two fights, the Ali-Norton confrontation seems to offer more excitement.

Ali told Sportscasters/Sportswriters Monday via telephone that his jaw, broken by Norton in San Diego earlier this year, is healed. "Can't you hear me talking?" he said. In a 10 minute answer to a yes-or-no question, he proved his jaw-ability. He tossed in a poem, too. "Come one, come all. See Muhammad Ali dancin' a ball."

But for those who want to see the real McCoy, there is, as usual, a classy card Friday night at 8 p.m. at the San Diego Coliseum, 15th and E streets.

Headliner is a lightweight 10-round confrontation between Cesar Sinda (25-6, 11 ko's) of Africa via Los Angeles who will meet Javier Ayala, of Tijuana (33-8, 21 ko's). Sinda, 24, who speaks 7 languages, has been fighting since he was 15 when he was in the army of the Republic of Congo. He took a bronze medal in the 1968 Olympic games in Mexico. He is well-muscled and thrives on toe-to-toe boxing.

Ayala, a rangy boxer-puncher recently went 10 rounds with world champion Roberto Duran but lost the decision.

In the other 10-rounder featherweight Valenta Vera (24-2) of Tijuana meets Johnny "Spider" Watson (11-1-2) of Los Angeles. Vera won 22 of his 26 bouts via the knockout route.

Among the prelims will be Gustavo Perez vs. Ron Lignon, light heavies—6 rounds, and Rudy Acuna vs. Roberto Reyes, lightweights, 5 rounds.

An added early attraction (7 p.m.) is the showing of the film of the 1967 draw between featherweights Bobby Valdez and Dwight Hawkins.

Doors open at 6:30 Friday. Boxing starts at 8. General admission is $2; reserved seats, $5, and ringside $7.50. Reservations 232-1904.

Chargers and Unitas Face Hadl and Rams Friday Night

John Hadl, the sterling quarterback who gave the Chargers 11 years of his football life, will be out to best his old team at 8:30 Friday night at Los Angeles.

Johnny Unitas, the "Legent in his Time" and now taking the spot held by Hadl, will be out to beat Hadl and the Rams.

It will be a good match up.

The outcome may convince fans who got the best quarterback deal.

But there'll be other Chargers trying to win big, too. These former Rams will return to the Coliseum for Friday's game: Deacon Jones, Coy Bacon, Bob Thomas, Greg Wojcik, Ron Smith and head coach Harlan Svare.

The game will be broadcast by Stu Nahan and Ralph Lawler via KDEO and the Charger network. It will be shown on tape Sunday at 5 on tv 39. Tickets may be bought in San Diego at the Charger box office at Stadium gate E.

After resting a sore back last week, Johnny Unitas is scheduled to start at quarterback for San Diego and play most of the way against the Rams. In sporadic summer activity, Unitas has completed 17-of-29 passes for 218 yards with one touchdown and three interceptions.

An active NFL history book, Unitas has had many great games at the Coliseum. But it was also the scene of the end of his fabulous 47-game streak of throwing touchdown passes. The Rams beat the Colts, 10-3, on Dec. 11, 1960.

In Los Angeles in 1973, Unitas will renew acquaintances with his former Baltimore boss, Ram owner Carroll Rosenbloom.

Hadl's statistics this summer are 26-of-58 completions for 324 yards, two touchdowns

Gulls Booked For 78 Games Longest Schedule in 8 Years

The San Diego Gulls will be playing a 78-game schedule and a game with the Russian National Team in 1972-74. The 78-game slate is the most ever played by the Gulls as they enter year number eight in the WHL.

A heavy emphasis is on the weekends this season. Of the 78 games on the schedule, 55 will be played on a Friday, Saturday or Sunday evening.

The Gulls home schedule will have 28 weekend dates. Thirteen of those will be on Saturday night, six games, including the home opener on October 5 will be on Friday nights and nine Sunday evening games are on the agenda.

Each team will meet the Gulls sixteen (16) times in 1973-74 with the exception of the Denver Spurs who will play the Gulls on 14 different occasions. The opponents include Portland, Denver, Seattle, Salt Lake City, and Phoenix.

The Phoenix Roadrunners will provide the opening night opposition on Friday, October 5. The following evening, the two teams will square off in Phoenix for the Roadrunners home opener.

Another big night will be the Russian National Team making their second appearance in San Diego. The game will be played on Thursday, January 3 at 8 p.m. Last year over 12,000 fans saw the Gulls battle the best from the Soviet Union.

All Gull games, home and away, will once again be heard over KOGO (60) with Mike Lange calling the play-by-play.

General Manager Max McNab said Monday that the National Hockey League has announced that they will be expanding by two teams in time for the 1976-77 season. One or both of those teams will be from the WHL.

Preparatioins are under way for the opening of the Gulls training camp at Bellingham, Wash. on Sept. 12.

The team's October schedule is listed here. Home games are capitalized.

Irv Grossman, Padres PR Chief Takes New Post With Agency

There's one more solid indication that the Padres are leaving San Diego—no matter what the rumors are to the contrary.

Irv Grossman, public relation director for the Padres, has resigned to become president of a new San Diego-based communications firm, KL/PR public relations.

The announcement was made by the principals of the firm; Jordan Lansky, Hal Kaufman and Grossman.

Lansky and Kaufman are owners of Kaufman, Lansky Advertising, a San Diego-based firm with annual billings of $3 million.

KL/PR will have offices at 654 India st.

Grossman joined the Padres in 1969 with a previous background as a newspaper executive and a corporate financial public relations officer.

Grossman said he now is serving clients while continuing his duties with the Padres through the end of the current baseball season, September 29.

Golf Course Inns of America, Pomerado County Water District, Leisure Time Sports and Ted Vallas Properties are San Diego County firms who have contracted for Grossman's services.

Lansky said that the formation of KL-PR makes available to Kaufman, Lansky clients a completely independent and specialized public relations service.

Lansky, who also authors the syndicated comic strip "MacDivot", said that KL/PR will operate completely independent of his and Kaufman's advertising agency.

Grossman, 40, who has been nationally recognized as a sportswriter and sports publicist, has had a long and varied public relations and newspaper career in San Diego since moving to Oceanside in 1958.

Prior to joining the Padres, Grossman was public relations director and public information specialist for Southern California First National Corporation and its principal subsidiary, Southern California First National Bank.

While at SCFNB he arranged and authored that bank's presentations before both the San Diego and Los Angeles Financial Analysts Societies.

Prior to his work in financial corporate public relations,

Grossman served as general manager and managing editor of The Blade-Tribune, Oceanside. He also was sports editor of that newspaper.

Past Grands Set Date

Past Noble Grands Association of District No. 54, of the Rebekah Order, will hold its monthly meeting on September 14, at noon, at the Colina Del Sol Recreation Center, 5319 Orange ave. Mrs. Janet McDonald is refreshment chairman and will serve coffee, tea and desert.

San Diego Whips L.A. Volleyballers

If you are tired of seeing disinterested professional players just putting out enough to get through the game, then vollevball is the game for you.

Volleyball players, specifically those who unveiled their wares Friday night at the Sports Arena indicated they not only wanted to play, they wanted to win.

In the championship play Friday, San Diego National All-Star beat the Los Angeles International stars in four exciting games before 4,855 cheering fans. The scores were 15-7, 15-12, 11-15 and 15-7.

The San Diego team consisted mostly of San Diego State College's recent NCAA champions and will represent the U.S. in World Cup Competition in Czechoslavakia in September.

Standouts of the SD team were Duncan McFarland, Fyron Shewman and Kirk Hilgour.

The LA team boasted Toshi Toyoda, Rudy Suwara and Ed Becker. Wilt Chamberlain, who was on tour with the LA team earlier, did not attend the match.

J. Dineen Still Atop Speedway Point Standings

John Dineen, driver of the fastest car at Cajon Speedway, remains perched atop the super stock car point standings this week, despite the fact that he has won only one main event, compared to four victories for second place Pat McIntyre and five wins for third place Jim Hitt.

Dineen, of El Cajon, finishes well nearly every week, but the winner's circle has eluded him most of the time. He picks up his points the hard way.

Under El Cajon Stock Car Racing Association rules, drivers are given points based on the position of the finish in the main event. But they also may earn points by passing other cars.

So a driver who starts in the 20th position and finishes second always gets more points than the driver who starts in the first position and wins the race.

Dineen has earned most of his points the hard way, by starting last and passing many cars. In fact, he has started last the last six weeks in a row. Starting position is based on qualifying times, with the fastest qualifier earning the last position for the main event and the slowest qualifier starting in the front row on the pole.

So Dineen has been running the fastest car on the track and has been unable to win any races, although he is consistently in the top five. Last week he finished fourth, behind third place Jim Hitt. Dineen earned more points, however, by passing more cars.

Other highlights of last week's action included the return of Ed Hale to the driver of old, as the Lemon Grove mechanic cruised into second place in the main event. Hale, a former points champion, has been running off again-on again this season.

Pat McIntyre, of Spring Valley, and Jim Hitt, of Lemon Grove will be back at it again this Saturday night as they try to catch Dineen in the points battle. Qualifying is at 6:30 p.m. with the first race at 8 p.m.

Youth Soccer League Registration Slated

Saturday and Sunday are the last days to register in the Suburban Youth Soccer League. Registration will take place at Sunset Park in La Mesa between 9 and 11 a.m.

Any boy between the ages of 8 and 15 is eligible to register. Proof of age, three current photographs for new players and one current photograph for returning players are required at registration.

Fees for registration are $10 for players in Div. IV (8-10 yrs.) and Div. III (11-13 yrs.) and $14 for players in Div. II (13-15 yrs.).

California grows about 70 percent of the country's supply of lettuce.

Church Speaker Set

The Rev. David DuPlessis, from the Pentecostal movement, is scheduled to speak in the Trinity Presbyterian Church Kenwood rd., Spring Valley, tomorrow, at 7:30 p.m. Everyone is invited, said Pastor Dick Adams.

Rev. DuPlessis is the author of several books.

Historical Society Meeting Slated

The regular meeting of the Spring Valley Historical Society will be next Wednesday, at 7:30 p.m., in the patio of the Museum on Memory ln., just off Bancoft dr. The public is invited, said vice president Charlotta Phillips.

Main order of business will be discussion or finances and a membership drive.

Persons wanting more information regarding membership may call 466-2809 or 466-4209.

36,213 See Game

San Diego received impressive performances from young quarterbacks Wayne Clark and Don Fouts to beat the Eagles before a San Diego Stadium crowd of 36,213 which included the Summer White House staff and press corps.

Clark played the first half and left with a 17-3 lead. Mike Garrett scored on a one-yard run; Clark passed 25 yards to Dave Williams and Gunter Enz kicked a 25-yard field goal. The third-year quarterback from USIU was 5-of-9 for 83 yards.

Playing his first pro game, Fouts led the Chargers on a 75-yard drive to the winning touchdown, scored on a 4-yard run by John Sykes with 32 seconds left. A No. 3 draft choice from Oregon, Fouts was 6-of-16 for 129 yards with four passes dropped. Final score, Eagles 17, Chargers 24.

The game ball went to middle linebacker Tim Rossovich, the former Eagle, who made eight tackles, five unassisted.

The public is invited to attend the 1973 Charger Kickoff Banquet at Town and Country Convention Center on Tuesday night, Sept. 4. Tickets, priced at $10 for a steak dinner, can be obtained at Stadium Gate E or my mailing a check to "Kickoff Banquet" care of the Chargers, P.O. Box 20666, S. D. 92120.

The Chargers play the Minnesota Vikings at San Diego Stadium on Saturday night, Sept. 8, at 8 p.m. in the final pre-season game.

Why your SDG&E bill may go up. Again.

Last year your electric bill went up for the first time since 1958.

SDG&E has requested the California Public Utilities Commission to approve a 9.66% rate increase.

We'd like you to know why. But first we'd like to cover your primary concern . . . what the proposed increase would mean, in dollars and cents, to your monthly bill.

For Electricity:

If your present bill is...	Your new bill would be...	$ Increase
$ 6.06	$ 6.66	$0.60
8.13	9.03	0.90
11.22	12.69	1.47
14.30	16.35	2.05

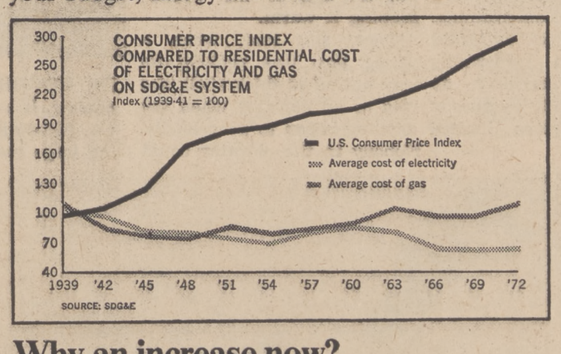
For Gas:

$ 5.02	5.52	0.50
6.98	7.70	0.72
10.99	12.21	1.22
14.96	16.70	1.74

A special note: On June 1, 1973, we asked for an additional 2.59% gas rate increase to cover an expected cost increase from our gas supplier. The increase would become effective only if and when the supplier increases its rates.

Your energy bill was the last to go.

It's been a decade of inflation. Just about everything has zoomed upward. But dependable electricity remained the same great bargain in San Diego for almost 14 years. Until 1970, gas rates had not risen in 10 years. So, while inflation has whittled away at your budget, energy has held the line.



Why an increase now?

There are basically four things which have driven the price of energy up. Not just at SDG&E, but all over the country.

1. Rising fuel costs.
2. The high cost of environmental protection.
3. The need for more plants to supply growing energy demands.
4. The need to raise money to finance the plants.

Let's take a look at these problems one at a time.

Fuel: Liquid Gold

What would happen to your budget if half of your expenses suddenly doubled. That's our problem when it comes to fuel. The fuel to generate electricity is our biggest single expense . . . about 42% of our total budget. In recent years, the scarcity of natural gas has forced us to use more oil. To meet environmental standards, we must use expensive low-sulfur oil. The price of the oil we burn has risen 140% in two years . . . from $1.98 a barrel to an average of $4.76.

The Environment: Nice... and Expensive

Everybody wants to minimize air pollution. Protect our ocean. Make our environment beautiful. And we're no exception. But there's a price to be paid. Low-sulfur oil is expensive. Low-profile power stations are expensive. Undergrounding power lines is expensive. In dollars and cents: SDG&E's $130 million construction budget for 1973, includes $26.2 million for environment-related projects alone. Another example: the environmental impact study we were required to do for our Encina power plant addition has taken a year... and more than one million dollars... to complete! The price of clean energy must reflect the cost of producing it.

Construction: Going Up

Electricity demands are expected to double in the next 8-10 years. Since it takes five to ten years to build power plants, we must begin construction now if we are to be ready to meet your future needs. And we must do it in the face of drastically rising construction costs. Our construction figures speak for themselves: in 1968, our total construction budget was less than $42 million. The 1973 budget is $130 million. The projected construction figure for 1977 is $299.2 million.

Earnings: Your problem, too

Maybe you think that our earnings are our problem. Not yours. But you have a stake in them you might not realize. You see, SDG&E is going to have to attract a lot of people to invest in San Diego in the next few years if we're going to have enough power to meet your needs. Not far-out needs. But growth to which the community is already committed. New educational institutions. New jobs. New and growing families.

Right now, it looks like we're going to have to raise between 800 million and 1 billion dollars in the next five years or so. To build new generating facilities. To continue environmental improvements. And to keep our system at top operating efficiency. The only way we can do it is to make sure your company continues to be attractive to investors. Which means keeping our earning record competitive with all the other places people can invest their money.

We're pinching pennies

We've already cut our expenses to the bone. Travel. Telephone. Overtime. We've pioneered less expensive construction methods. Communicated more efficiently. This ad is an example... it's the most economical way to tell 500,000 customers what you have a right to know.

We could cut further... reduce personnel, eliminate many of our customers services and other things that would mean less than satisfactory gas and electricity service for San Diego. We could even stop building power generating facilities. But we're not planning to. Because we don't believe you want power shortages for your homes and businesses.

What can you do?

By using the energy wisely, you can significantly reduce the effect of this new increase. That's why we're determined to help you make the most of your energy . . . and ours . . . through a complete program of consumer information.

When all is said and done, reliable gas and electricity is still one of the best bargains around. And the 3800 men and women of SDG&E want to keep it that way. With your understanding . . . and cooperation . . . we can.

We do more than just care.

Career Starts as Hobby, Marie Hitchcock Says

POPULAR PUPPETS — Two of Mrs. Hitchcock's most popular puppets are Murgatroyd, left, and Cornelius Crow. The two are hand puppets, but the local woman is also quite accomplished with marionettes.

By John Nicholson

A hobby that became profitable and later a professional career is the story behind Marie Hitchcock, of Spring Valley, who is the official Puppet Lady of San Diego.

Mrs. Hitchcock, who entertains thousands of youngsters and adults every month with her puppet and bird shows, is a member of the Lemon Grove Soroptimist Club, the San Diego Puppet Guild and is the official ambassador of good will for the San Diego Humane Society.

Her career started in the mid 1940's, although she didn't know it at the time, when she purchased a puppet from Bob Baker, the famed marionette manipulator. "I didn't really know what to do with it," she confessed, "but I bought it because it was so cute."

Demonstration

She later attended a demonstration on puppetry, which spurred her to bring out the still-unused puppet and practice in front of a mirror. After learning how to balance the figure, she became fascinated with puppets and soon owned seven more.

After she became more accomplished, she gave a demonstration for her sister, Genevieve Engman, who was so excited that she called in all her neighbors for a second show, the first before a "real audience" for Mrs. Hitchcock.

From that point, her hobby progressed until she did her first private show, a birthday party for her housekeeper's youngster.

She moved to the San Diego area soon after and continued with her hobby, acquiring several more puppets, including some that are now collector's items, as well as a partner, her sister, Mrs. Engman.

First Public Show

Their first public show was in 1948 at the library, and by this time Mrs. Hitchcock had developed her skills very well. After representing the Ocean Beach Junior Woman's Club at a talent show, the two puppeteers did their first "paid" show for the Pacific Beach Juniors, for $10.

At the time, most of the shows the sisters gave were free, but a few paid shows soon blossomed the hobby into a profitable one.

Their first big break was when a furniture company paid $500 for a week of shows at a store opening. By the mid '50's the puppetry had become a professional career for both and they called themselves the Padre Puppeteers.

School Engagements

Always popular with the younger set, Mrs. Hitchcock and Mrs. Engman soon played many engagements at schools and gradually worked in educational aspects into the school shows, although they were still mainly entertaining.

Later, Genevieve was forced to retire from performing after an auto accident, although she still constructs puppets and gives limited shows.

Marie's current school shows include kindness to animals and drug abuse messages, worked in subtly, as well as good relations with law enforcement.

One of the most popular shows with the youngsters is the bird show, featuring her scarlet macaw, "Kooky", and her policeman-puppet "Sgt. Friendly".

Kooky, named so because of his antics when he was only a few months old, performs tricks and sometimes plays tricks while helping Mrs. Hitchcock with her "animals are not toys" theme and drug abuse messages. During the drug abuse message, the eight-year old macaw lies on his back and "plays dead"—a very unusual stunt for any bird.

Real Police Badge

Co-star is Sgt. Friendly, who wears a real San Diego Police badge and scaled-down uniform and has a file with the police department. He spreads the good will for the police department and leads in the singing of "Be Kind to my Friends on the Force".

Both the stars of the bird show, which is given free at schools, have interesting histories, Mrs. Hitchcock said.

Mrs. Hitchcock's interest in birds goes far back past the days when she was a breeder of cockateils and lovebirds.

Once, she appeared periodically on the Bob Dale Show to illustrate the growing period of young birds, bringing a baby lovebird before the television cameras weekly until it was an adult.

Excellent Showmen

Lovebirds are excellent showmen despite their small size, and consequently Mrs. Hitchcock worked one of the birds into her puppet act, which she was giving at the time at Sea World, where she worked for three years.

One of those who saw the shaw was Mabel Stillson, who contacted Mrs. Hitchcock later and told her that she wanted to give her a gift, which turned out to be a five-day old macaw.

Kooky's parents were both very old and so it was thought best to remove the bird from the nest at his tender age. Being a foster mother to a newly hatched macaw turned out to be quite a job, as Kooky had to be fed every two hours around the clock for several weeks. He was originally named Prince Neptune but his kooky manners and trickery soon brought about a change in his name.

Keep It Warm!

Mrs. Hitchcock was so successful in hand raising Kooky that she was later called upon to incubate eggs for Mrs. Stillson. When she had to leave the house, she would put an egg in her bosom, keeping it warm.

Once, she said, when a young bird was pecking its way out of its thick shell, she was in an elevator when the nestling began to peep loudly. Nobody in the elevator could tell where the sound was coming from, and Mrs. Hitchcock, slightly embarrassed, didn't volunteer any information.

Sgt. Friendly is more recent in his arrival and is the outgrowth of another puppet, Ted Pig, who was a bit controversial.

Mascot

Ted Pig, who was a puppet with a pig's face and a policeman's badge and uniform, was constructed when police departments around the country were adopting the pig as a mascot.

The words Pride, Integrity, and Guts were used in the theme, and Ted Pig fit the bill well and had the approval of the San Diego Police Department.

A few mis-informed parents led to his downfall, however, and soon a battle ensued over whether or not the puppet was in good taste. Several letters came to the police department, and, although most were in support of the puppet, it was decided to retire Ted and construct a new puppet that would help in the show.

While the police department had no objections to the pig-puppet, it was decided that another puppet might be a more positive approach.

Letters Ask Names

Mrs. Hitchcock contacted the schools where Ted Pig had performed and asked for letters from the children to decide what type puppet it should be, what rank he should have, and what name he should use.

Sgt. Friendly was soon consrtucted by Mrs. Engman and was incorporated into the act. After each show, as the children leave, they are allowed to touch the puppet's badge.

Currently, Sgt. Friendly is getting patched up from the wear and tear, but should be ready for service in another week or so.

Mrs. Hitchcock is currently involved in both the free bird shows for schools and the paid puppet shows for groups, clubs, schools, conventions and parties. A requirement for the free bird show is that the entire student body is allowed to attend, while the paid puppet shows are for any number of people.

For details, contact Mrs. Hitchcock at 466-7128.

I'M BEAUTIFUL — Kooky, Mrs. Hitchcock's kooky scarlet macaw, is a ham at heart and loves to show off his feathers. Although his large beak is more than capable of cracking large nuts, he is quite gentle and loves children.

Cleaning Aids In Protection From Silverfish

Moths and silverfish lie in wait for clothes stored carelessly, says the California Fabricare Institute.

It makes no difference whether the cloth is wool or not, says the Institute, any fabric bearing food or dirt spots is delicious to the gamboling vermin. Cleaning before storage may save the price of the garment about to be eaten.

Getting the most from the wardrobe dollar also requires brushing off lint and dust and storing the garments on shaped hangers. The cleaner's wire hanger is not meant for long periods of storage, says CFI, and suggests binding together two or more wire hangers if a formed hanger is not available. All closures, whether buttons, snaps, hooks and eyes or zippers, should be fastened to keep garments well shaped.

Final rule for summer storage calls for plenty of breathing room for the clothes, at least enough space to keep garments from being creased by crowding. They should also be separated according to olor with white or light garments kept apart from dark colors to avoid any transfer of dye or color.

NEW ARRIVAL — A recent arrival at Mrs. Hitchcock's home is Dunkan, a Doberman puppy, who still hasn't learned that Cornelius Crow is not on the menu. Mrs. Hitchcock is training the young dog, who will perform in a show with a kindness to animals theme.

A LITTLE LOWER, PLEASE — The scarlet macaw, who measures over three feet from his head to the tip of his tail, likes to be scratched under his wings. Most birds don't like their backs touched, but Kooky is an exception, and even "plays dead" on his back in the palm of Mrs. Hitchcock's hand to show youngsters what could happen if they were to use drugs.

BE A NICE BIRD — Kooky gets a scolding after refusing to perform one of his many tricks. The eight-year old parrot, comparable to a teen ager in human years, likes to be stubborn every once in a while, but usually behaves if he is promised a peanut.

Dear Editor:

We believe that our friends and supporters in Lemon Grove and the Encanto area will be interested to know the state of affairs of the development which was proposed for the canyon near 69th st. and Mallard.

On September 4, the appeal on the proposed College Crest Townhouses re - zoning and Planned Residential Development will be before the San Diego City Council.

Thank you

Padres Fans to Honor Aaron

The Padres return from one of their more successful road trips Sunday to play a pair of games with the Cincinnati Reds on Saturday and Sunday.

Then comes Hank Aaron and the Atlanta Braves for a three-day foray into the confines of San Diego's Stadium.

Aaron, who will be closing in on Babe Ruth's record, will be honored by baseball fans and officials of America's Finest City on Tuesday.

Fred Hayes, sportswriter of the Voice newspaper, is in charge of the ceremony.

East-Bound Lane Sealed on Palm

The Palm st. traffic control project in Lemon Grove has been resolved.

Originally, it was planned to make Palm st. one-way east from Troy to Sweetwater rd.

It will not be one-way after all.

But getting to Palm from the east is the problem.

Motorists will angle off Palm to Troy at the approximate location of the Palm Junior High school, turn right on Sweetwater one block to Palm.

Once on Palm, traffic moves in both directions and may exit at the Troy-Palm intersection.

In simpler language, they've sealed off the eastbound traffic lane at the Palm-Troy intersection.

RUNNER UP— Michele Sisk, 17-year old Santana High School graduate and reigning Fairest of the Fair, was San Diego County's representative in the California State Exposition's Maid of California Pageant in Sacramento. Miss Sisk, who also wears the title of Miss El Cajon, was named runner up in the statewide contest. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jess V. Sisk, of El Cajon.

Guidelines for Buying Mexican Meat Outlined

The U. S. Department of Agriculture has issued guidelines for consumers who bring meat back to the United States from Mexico.

Leo G. K. Iverson, deputy administrator of USDA's Animal and Plant Health Inspection Service, said officials are concerned that consumers who are now going into Mexico to buy meat will purchase more than the 50 pounds for personal use that can be brought back into the U.S. Any excess may have to be seized and destroyed at the border, causing a loss to consumers.

"APHIS inspectors routinely examine meat from Mexico being brought through our border stations in amounts smaller than 50 pounds," Mr. Iverson said. "But the Federal Meat Inspection Act prohibits entry of foreign meat in amounts in excess of 50 pounds per person, unless certified for export by the foreign country and inspected by a U.S. meat inspector.

In addition to the general restrictions on foreign meat, animal health regulations currently prohibit the importation of any fresh pork, poultry and eggs from Mexico. Pork and live hogs are prohibited because of the danger of their carrying hog cholera, highly infectious swine disease.

Likewise, poultry and eggs are not allowed entry into the United States because of the possibility that they may carry Newcastle disease, which affects poultry and other birds. USDA officials have been working to eradicate an outbreak of this disease in southern California for the past 17 months.

Giant lizards, known as Ichthyosaurus, ranging not less than 30 feet in length roamed the country sides during the Mesozoic age.

County School Cost Told by Superintendent

How much will it cost in the 1973-74 school year to educate all the public elementary, secondary, and community college students in San Diego County?

Including such items as interest on bonds and building costs, the total budgeted is $593,976,853, reports M. Ted Dixon, county superintendent.

This figure is determined by adding the totals of 207 separate budgets submitted to the county department of education by the 48 districts in San Diego County, Dixon said. Once approved, the budgets are filed with the county board of supervisors and auditor for determining tax rates.

By law, the county superintendent must file the various district budgets by August 15 each year. Tax rates are determined by the county auditor and levied early in September by the board of supervisors.

Within each district, Dixon explained, separate budgets are prepared for the general fund, the bond interest and redemption fund, the building fund, the state school building loan fund, and the cafeteria fund. For this reason, the number of budgets is greater than the number of districts.

"General fund" expenditures total $447,249,192, or 74 percent of the money to be spent, according to county education officials. Salaries, fringe benefits, supplies, maintenance costs, and transportation are typical general fund expenses.

The general fund figure of nearly $450 million represents an increase of 11 per cent over the 1972-73 total. This corresponds to a similar 11 per cent increase noted the previous year.

Despite this increase, Dixon said, the tax rates in many districts are expected ot drop significantly this year. "While school district general fund budgets increased at an average rate of 11 per cent, the assessed valuation increase averaged nearly 14 per cent," he explained.

"The assessed valuation increase, coupled with recent school finance and tax reform legislation, will actually cause a reduction in the tax rate for educatioinal purposes in many districts within the county," Dixon said. "Because of the legislation, some school district tax rates will increase. But tax rates in several other districts will be significantly reduced."

Allen Tops Bill at SB

Led by the fast youngster from El Cajon, Bill Allen, the sprint cars of the San Diego Racing Association will be presenting another racing program Saturday, on the half-mile dirt oval at Dick Fries' South Bay Speedway starting at 8 p.m.

Allen, at age 22, has darted into the racing circles like a rocket in less than one year of sprint car racing. Bill is currently the SDRA point leader and could be a prime candidate for this year's Western United Sttaes Sprint Car Championships at Phoenix in October.

In addition to Allen, many other San Diego area drivers will be on hand at South Bay this Saturday, such as, three-time SDRA and former Arizona State Champion Jim Wood of Ramona, La Mesa's Jim Castle, Stan Simmons of San Diego, and Ralph Tresser of Lemon Grove. Another top contender will be Lakeside's Al Hamilton, the younger brother of one of the top sprint car drivers in the west, Don Hamilton, of Lemon Grove.

With the retirement of four-time sprint car champion Dick Fries, Al has now moved into Fries' race car, the Dean Meltzer Chevy of Santee. Hamilton, like Allen, is a fast rising young sprint car driver who will be tough to beat in the future.

Ranch Land Sought For County Parks

Heise Regional Park may more than quadruple its size to meet the increasing number of campers who use the wilderness area near Julian.

The County of San Diego is negotiating purchase of the 696-acre Peckham Ranch, located adjacent to the park, in order to accommodate the forecasted 172,200 annual visitors by 1980.

The growing popularity of this present 211-acre park makes the acquisition of additional land a 'must' if we are to maintain low density use and preserve the sensitive wilderness environment," said Ed Moses, County Park Development Director.

Based on the findings of a comprehensive regional parks development study, the county budgeted half the purcchase price for the Peckham property in 1972. According to Moses, that appropriation however, depended on a Federal matching grant which was never received. Subsequently, the County Board of Supervisors re-approved the purchase as a total county expenditure in the 1973-74 budget.

To help ease the high user demand while purchase negotiations are underway, Heise Regional Park is increasing the number of campsites and restrooms on its present site.

"The facilities now under construction will support the proposed expansion area," Moses said. "The development of the Peckham Ranch site would be limited to remote staging or base camp areas for use by hikers and campers."

RATES ROADS — Tony Miller of the Engineering Materials Testing Division of the San Diego County Engineer's Department prepares to test a road using the County's new road-rater. The road-rater monitors the condition of a highway and enables the operator to determine if the road needs recapping. The testing division also checks all materials used in the building of county roads to assure a quality product.

Materials Testing Helps Save San Diego County Tax Dollars

More than 15,000 tests a year keep San Diego County bridges and roads from falling down.

"We test everything involved in the building of county roads, from the soil underneath to the asphalt or concrete on top," said Donald H. Kiltsch, head of the Engineering Materials Testing Division of the County Engineer Department.

The division's staff of 14 makes sure that all construction materials used meet county specifications.

"When 50 to 60 percent of the total cost involved in road construction is for materials, we want to be sure that we use only quality items," Klitsch said.

The materials engineer designs the roadway "load carrying" structural section. A structural section consists primarily of base materials and a paving surface of either asphalt or concrete.

"We determine how thick the structural section must be in order for the underlying native soils to safely carry the imposed vehicle load," Klitsch said. "For example, we recommend the depth of crushed rock to be placed on the native soil road bed and the depth of asphaltic or Portland cement concrete placed over it."

Advanced Machines

The Materials Testing Laboratory, housed in the County Operations Center on Kearney Mesa, contains some of the most advanced equipment available.

"One such piece of equipment is the Instron Universal Testing Machine," Klitsch said. "This machine enables us to test the strength of materials automatically and thus eliminate human error. So far, we're the only California county thta has one.

In addition to the laboratory, the testing division has equipped two vans and two trailers as testing stations.

"These mobile units enable us to perform various tests at the asphalt or concrete mixing plants or construction locations with additives such as lime, sement, or polymers, we can often produce a high-quality product. This is especially important now when good materials are becoming scarce."

Klitsch said that the testing field is expanding rapidly.

"Roads are still our top priority but, in addition, we now conduct foundation studies for county buildings, parking lots, and other construction projects," he said.

"We use a soil-data retrieval system whereby results of our tests are kept permanently by a computer," he continued. "In this way we can greatly reduce the amount of testing required to obtain design information for new construction projects."

The Materials Testing Division also provides a consultation service for county and private engineers.

"We tell it like it is," Klitsch said. "We base our findings on the most up-to-date tests to assure that county roads, bridges, buildings, and other construction projects are built in accordance with the design for safety, economy, and dependability."

Saving Money

"We're actually saving taxpayers money by reducing maintenance costs by controlling quality and insuring adequate structural section design," he said.

"We also lower construction costs by utilizing new methods to upgrade substandard materials," Klitsch continued. "By mixing a poor quality cations and thus obtain rapid results," he said.

Klitsch explained that savings incurred from the location of new material sources

Country And Western Days At Sea World

Old-fashioned country - style singin', dancin' and carryin' on will highlight Sea World's Country-Western Days during Labor Day weekend Sept. 1-3.

The three-day jamboree will feature free hayrides, fireworks and continuous live entertainment—all at regular admission prices. The park will remain open until 10 p.m. Saturday and Sunday, and until 7:30 p.m. Monday. Sea World opens daily at 9 a.m.

Horses and haywagons will be used for free hayrides for children between 4 and 12 years old each day from 11 a.m. until dusk.

Continuous live entertainment on stage in Independence Park will feature Brush Arbor, a group of musicians who borrowed their name from the famous "brush arbor meetings" of rural America.

Country singer Larry Booth and his five-member band, and fastdraw champion Eldon Carl also will entertain Sea World visitors. Carl is three-time national quickdraw champion and Southwest combat pistol champion.

Square dancing will add another "down home" touch to Country and Western weekend. Continuous performances of the colorful American folk dances will alternate on the stage with Brush Arbor, Larry Booth and Eldon Carl.

A number of Southern California radio stations will participate in the Country and Western weekend in various ways, including live remote broadcasts from Sea World, and free country and western record albums.

Saturday and Sunday evenings will end with a big fireworks display at approximately 10 p.m.

Tomorrow Is Last Chance To Enroll

Gossmont College has extended its application period for the 1973 fall semester through Friday to accommodate prospective students who were unable to make the original August 24 deadline. In exceptional cases applications may be accepted until September 6.

In announcing the application period extension, Harrison Hall, vice pesident for student personnel services said that there is still room for students who wish to enroll in a number of general education and vocational courses.

"I would like to emphasize that as a community college, Grossont College has something for everyone. Self-enrichment courses such as jewelry and lapidary crafts may be taken during the evening or courses upgrading job training of promotion opportunities such as real estate appraisal may be taken from 7:30 to 9 a.m.

A special interest course for women will be offered for the first time during the fall semester. Titled "women in society," the new social science course will be offered both during the day and evening," Hall said.

Additional information on those and other courses still available during the fall semester at Grossmont College may be obtained by contacting the campus Admissions Office.

High school diplomas are not necessary for persons over 18 who wish to enroll. Enrollment is limited to residents of the Grossmont Community College Ditrict. The college district encompasses the same area as the Grossmont Union High School District.
